St. Patrick's Day Celebrations Around the World

People of all backgrounds celebrate St. Patrick's Day, especially throughout the United States, Canada and Australia. Popular St. Patrick's Day recipes include Irish soda bread, corned beef and cabbage and champ, an Irish dish of mashed potatoes with scallions, butter, and milk.

In Ireland, St. Patrick's Day has traditionally been a spiritual and religious occasion. In fact, up until the 1970s, Irish laws mandated that pubs be closed on March 17. Beginning in 1995, however, the Irish government began a national campaign to use interest in St. Patrick's Day to drive tourism and showcase Ireland and Irish culture to the rest of the world.

As Irish immigrants spread out over the United States, many cities developed their own traditions. One of these is Chicago's annual dyeing of the Chicago River green. The practice started in 1962, when city pollution-control workers used dyes to trace illegal sewage discharges and realized that the green dye might provide a unique way to celebrate the holiday. That year, they released 100 pounds of green vegetable dye into the river—enough to keep it green for a week. Today, in order to minimize environmental damage, only 40 pounds of dye are used, and the river turns green for only several hours.
